

ACCOUNTANCY

Recent changes to accountancy law have meant that there is an increasing reliance on IT in the workplace. With the introduction of iXBRL tagging for submissions to HM Revenue and Customs and the benefits from Companies House e-filing, accountants are finding more of their daily challenges revolve around IT. While users are finding the new processes challenging, managers also have their hands full maintaining effective records for their clients in a secure and accessible manner, often for long periods of time in order to stay compliant with data retention laws.

Our aim is to assist you in meeting these challenges without significant disruption to your existing working practices. We can offer advice on topics from data integration, to electronic document storage, and from backups to effectively mining your client information for cross marketing purposes.

We have working knowledge of:

- Sage Line 50
- Sage Line 200
- Sage Instant Accounts
- Quickbooks
- IRIS
- Caseware
- And many others

If you would like to discuss your specific requirements with us, we would be delighted to hear from you.
