

SOLICITORS

The legal profession has come to rely upon IT more and more in the last few years. Speed of access to information and new guidelines from the Law Society have all been driving factors in the adoption of bigger and better IT systems. Restore IT Consultants realise the importance of an effective IT infrastructure in modern practice and aim to work with you to support and develop your systems in a meaningful and cohesive manner. We appreciate the challenges faced by solicitors in today's modern technology-oriented marketplace, our advice always follows best practice advice on matters such as data protection and the storage of sensitive information. We can help by offering secure methods of data storage, data transportation and remote working all protected by industry leading encryption and secure digital identification.

We can assist in the following matters:

- Data protection and encryption
- Remote working solutions
- CRM systems
- Document management systems
- Line of business application support
- Disaster recovery planning
- And more...

If you would like to discuss your specific requirements with us, we would be delighted to hear from you.